

If you've configured everything correctly and are unable to send mail from Outlook, you may need to change your outgoing port settings.

Open Outlook, choose "tool" – "e-mail accounts" and select "view or change". Select the offending account. Select "change". Open the tab that says "advanced" which should produce the following screen.

That shows Port 25 as the outgoing server port.

Change port 25 to port 587

Click OK and retest the settings.
